Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Monday 08 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Cold with snow showers, drier and brighter in the west.

This Evening and Tonight:
Some clear spells, especially in west, but further snow showers, more frequent and heaviest in east are likely to push through the Central Belt on rather brisk and cold easterly winds.

Tuesday:
Cold with snow showers, heaviest and most frequent in east and possibly through the Central Belt too. Drier, with more sunshine in west. Still brisk easterly winds.

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Cold. with further snow showers, but drier in west and winds easing, with fewer showers by Thursday. Strengthening southeast winds Friday could bring snow and coastal rain to west later.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.